

Relying on Him Who Judges Justly

Psalm 7: 1-17

1. The plea for justice
2. The rationale of justice
3. The mechanism of justice
4. The impact of justice
5. The problem of justice

Discussion Questions:

- 1 - How easy is it for you to ask God for justice when someone is hurting you?
- 2 - In what ways do you struggle with believing in a righteous God who judges? Do you like this God?
- 3 - Where have you seen God judge someone--maybe yourself? --by having them experience the same kind of evil that they planned for someone else?
- 4 - How does having Christ's righteousness transform how you approach God and others?
- 5 - Psalm 7 moves you to both: ask God for justice when someone hurts you and to ask him to give them a chance to repent like has for you. Are one of those requests harder for you personally to ask for than the other?

Relying on Him Who Judges Justly

Psalm 7: 1-17

1. The plea for justice
2. The rationale of justice
3. The mechanism of justice
4. The impact of justice
5. The problem of justice

Discussion Questions:

- 1 - How easy is it for you to ask God for justice when someone is hurting you?
- 2 - In what ways do you struggle with believing in a righteous God who judges? Do you like this God?
- 3 - Where have you seen God judge someone--maybe yourself? --by having them experience the same kind of evil that they planned for someone else?
- 4 - How does having Christ's righteousness transform how you approach God and others?
- 5 - Psalm 7 moves you to both: ask God for justice when someone hurts you and to ask him to give them a chance to repent like has for you. Are one of those requests harder for you personally to ask for than the other?

